THE FINAL TARIFF BOUT
IS BEGUN IN EARNESTCALLED UP FOR GENERAL DEBATETariff Revision Bill Before House of Representatives.

UNDERWOOD PRESENTS DATA

Debate To Be Limited to Eight Legislative Days, and Amendments Will Likely Be Curtailed — Estimate of the Amount Uncle Sam Will Receive Through the Income Tax, Chairman's Statement.

Washington, April 23.—The Underwood tariff bill, reported by the chairman of the ways and means committee, was called up in the house today for general debate.

Democrats of the house will caucus to pass on a rule proposed to limit general debate on the bill to eight legislative days and to curtail amendments, when the bill is read section by section, before being placed upon its passage.

The tariff revision bill recommends a radical readjustment of the entire fiscal policy of the nation. The Democrats proposed to make an income tax the means of accurately adjusting the funds to be raised by taxation, to correspond with necessities for government expenditures.

The report, submitted by Chairman Underwood, after outlining the operations of the proposed income tax, said: "The revenues from all income taxes readily respond to changes of rates and the latter can be raised or lowered within a few days' time, without business disturbances such as general tariff changes occasion."

Outline Policy.

The Democrats, outlining their policy in the preparation of the bill, announced an absolute disregard for the cost-of-production theory as regulatory of tariff rates, and declared that in the pending bill they had attempted:

"To eliminate protection of profits and to cut off duties which enabled industrial managers to exact a bonus for which no equivalent is rendered. To introduce in every line of industry a competitive tariff basis providing for a substantial amount of importation, to the end that no concern shall be able to feel that it has a monopoly of the home market gained other than through the fact that it is able to furnish better goods at lower prices than others."

The increased cost of living was mentioned as the most striking economic change needing adjustment through the tariff. A table presented gave the percentage of increase since 1897 to 1910 in farm products as 52.2 per cent; food 46.7; clothing, 23.8; metals and implements 48.2; drugs and chemicals, 23.9; house-furnishing goods, 24.2; miscellaneous, 44.5, an average increase of such commodities of 46.7 per cent. In close conjunction with the high cost of living, the report suggested the development of trusts and industrial combinations during the same period and gave a list of 226 such combinations organized since 1897.

Income Tax.

Chairman Underwood presented an interesting table of the number of people caught by the new income tax and the amount that they will pay into the government coffers. The table shows that:

126,000 incomes between $4,000 and $5,000 will pay $630,000 tax.
174,000 incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 will pay $5,340,000.
33,000 incomes between $10,000 and $15,000 will pay $4,240,000.
34,500 incomes between $15,000 and $25,000 will pay $3,185,000.
10,500 incomes between $20,000 and $25,000 will pay $2,100,000.
31,000 incomes between $25,000 and $50,000 will pay $9,666,000.
8,500 incomes between $50,000 and $100,000 will pay $11,560,000.
2,500 incomes between $100,000 and $250,000 will pay $11,650,000.
200 incomes between $250,000 and $500,000 will pay $11,650,000.
100 incomes between $500,000 and $1,000,000 will pay $10,100,000.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON

Outlines California's Stand in Message to President.

Once Again
The Countess
Is Married

Countess of Yarmouth Weds.
Brunswick, Ga., April 23.—Mrs. Conley Thaw, better known as the Countess of Yarmouth, was quietly married at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Carnegie, at Dunwoody, on Cumberland island, to Geoffrey C. Whitney of Boston. Mrs. Whitney is the divorced wife of the present Marquis of Hertford, he having succeeded to that title since Mrs. Thaw secured her divorce some years ago and returned to this country. The bridegroom is a prominent banker and broker in Boston.

100 incomes of over $1,000,000 will pay $2,825,000.
This is a total of 425,000 incomes to be taxed $70,125,000.

BIG STRIKE TO BE CALLED OFF

Industrial Suspension Cost the Country Many Millions and Drove Away From Manufacturers Customers They May Never Win Back—Government's Action Based On Advice of the King.

Brussels, Belgium, April 23.—The government has accepted the compromise proposed by the Liberal leader, M. F. Mason, and the great strike for universal suffrage, which on account of the remarkable discipline maintained in the movement and skillful organization is unique in history, will be called off tomorrow. Only a week ago the Belgium premier, Charles De Broqueville, declared: "No government could yield to a strike of this nature. To yield would be to abdicate."

Nevertheless the strike seems to have made sufficient impression on the government to induce it to unbend from its uncompromising attitude far enough to insure the termination of a situation which has already cost the country many millions and is daily driving away from the manufacturers customers they may never win back. ## GERMAN AIRMEN SEIZED

They Ran Short of Fuel and Landed On French Territory.

Nancy, France, April 23.—Another aviation incident on the French frontier increased the tension between France and Germany. Captain Von Devall, chief aviator inspector at Darmstadt, and Lieutenant Von Mirbach, in a military biplane, landed a little to the northward of Arracourt, where the Zeppelin Z4, the German military dirigible, landed only a few days ago. Von Devall and Von Mirbach were arrested. They declared that they were flying from Darmstadt to Metz and had been compelled to descend because they ran short of fuel. They believed that they were landing on German territory. After further investigation the German airmen were released.

Columbus, O., April 23.—Japanese citizens of Honolulu have just sent $556 to the Ohio flood sufferers. Governor Cox also received 25,000 lire, equivalent to $5,000, from Italian citizens of Chicago; $65 from citizens of Nome, Alaska; $1,000 from William R. Hearst and $2,000 from the Hearst newspapers.

WHEN she was Miss Lilla Gilbert, New York society belle and heiress to $15,000,000 who said she wanted to marry her "ideal," he must be a brute, with a curl over his left ear. Republican and Episcopalian, clean shaven, fond of athletics and know all about pigs and poultry. After she had decided on all these beautiful qualifications along came Howard Price Renshaw of her own set in New York. He didn't fit the bill by a jugful. But she became engaged and recently married him. Her "real" husband has sandy hair and a red mustache. He's a Democrat, but admits being an Episcopalian. He is not up on sport and knows no more than a city street urchin about pigs and poultry. So there you are.

Senator George F. Chamberlain introduced a resolution to abrogate the Hay-Pauncefote and the Clayton-Bulwer treaties under which Great Britain claims the right to a voice in the administration and management of the Panama canal. They furnish the only basis upon which the protest is justified against the clause exempting American coastwise ships from the payment of tolls.

JOHNSON REPLIES TO WILSON

California's Governor and His Party Leaders in Senate Favor Measure Excluding From Land Ownership in the State All Aliens Ineligible to Citizenship Under the Laws of the United States.

Sacramento, Cal., April 23.—Through the exchange of telegrams between President Wilson and Governor Johnson, the settled policy of the California administration on the question of alien land ownership was officially made known.

Governor Johnson and his party leaders in the senate favor a bill excluding from land ownership in the state all aliens ineligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States. Such a law probably will be passed, in spite of the objections from Washington.

The assertion is made by the governor that a state law of this nature would not be in contravention of any existing treaty. He is upheld in this

IN A SPLENDOR OF ACHIEVEMENT MAINTAINING ITS HIGH STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE HORSE SHOW CAME TO A CLOSE

Many Notable Horsemen Extend Unstinted Praise to the "Blue-grass Section of Ohio," to the "Lexington of the Buckeye State" on the Great Success of the Endeavor.

FUTURE SHOWS ASSURED
MANY REMAIN FOR SALE

Four Large and Appreciative Audiences See Four Good Shows, Each One Rivaling the Other as a Success.

The big sales pavilion was again the scene of a great concourse of horse lovers and society folk, Tuesday night, when the concluding Horse Show performance brought to a brilliant termination one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held in this section of the state. Every seat was taken and hundreds found standing room only, but to the last enthusiasm remained unabated and the speedway with its showing of classy horses, the splendid music of the Wallace orchestra, giving the fullest program of the four performances, and the especial attractions evoked the banner applause of the show.

Withal that the first Horse Show of the Ohio Sales Co., of Washington C. H., meant two days of unalloyed pleasure and excitement, there was a deeper interest attached to it that brought to the attention educational features of genuine value to the horse world. Its dominant purpose was to instruct and incite to high class breeding of those horses in greatest demand in our own country. At present there is a very great shortage in cavalry and artillery remounts and it was with the special aim of encouraging the raising of this class of horses that the management secured Hon. Geo. H. Rommell, chief of the Department of Animal Husbandry, Washington, D. C. Mr. Rommell not alone acted as one of the judges, he also gave information in regard to the model type of the cavalry remount and the true type of the artillery remount, and gave impetus to this line of breeding. Mr. Rommell expressed himself enthusiastically over Baron Bond, owned by Mr. Chas. Allen, the prize winner of the stallions best suited to sire cavalry remounts and cited him as a fine type for this purpose.

Judging with Messrs. Rommell and Shepard Tuesday afternoon and evening was Mr. Clarence C. Harris, of Lexington, Ky., one of the most widely known horse show judges of the country and the owner of a number of famous horses. Mr. Harris had winning horses entered last year in the New York Horse Show as well as in several other of the large eastern shows and makes the statement that three of the most valuable horses he ever owned came from the "Ohio Blue Grass" region.

THE AFTERNOON SHOW
There was a splendid afternoon crowd and as on the previous day, interest, centered in the classes of geldings and stallions suitable for artillery remounts.

There was a large bunch of fine saddle horses entered in the Five-Gaited Horse event, and the Jumping horses gave a better performance than Monday.

A class of colts seldom seen in one ring was found in the two-year-old harness class.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill gave another of their expert exhibitions in rope spinning and in combination some fast riding and bare back specialties. The high school horse, "Laddy," owned by Mr. Harry Hill, was the most successful and was shown by Mr. Hill or tried by his owner, Phil. Whitlow.

NIGHT SHOW

The official announcer, Mr. Os Peddicord, prefaced the evening performance with an announcement of the Ohio Horse Sales Co.'s big sale, beginning Wednesday morning, and in which 300 select horses will pass under the hammer.

The Wallace Orchestra gave a fine opening program, playing several numbers by request.

A mighty good bunch of 3-year-olds went down the stretch in the opening class.

After the awards had been made the official cup-bearer, "Billy" Paul presented to Mr. Chas. Allen on behalf of the management, a handsome big bunch of flowers, in appreciation of his strenuous efforts, contributing so largely to the success of the show, and also in recognition of what he is doing for the uplift of the horse standards in Fayette Co.

The cheering which broke from the crowd was no less a tribute to Mr. Allen.

On Monday night the management presented Mrs. Hill with a beautiful bouquet.

A number of the county's noted stallions were again led in parade by the famous "Bobby Burns". Added to the noted stallions shown Monday night were McGrath, owned by C. A. Rob, of Kenton; Expedition, Mr. Spragg, S. Charleston; Bay Wreath, record 2:18 3/4, by Crescus and "The Candy," by Sugar Bob, and other stallions. Mr. Chas. Allen, of Washington C. H., was an object of special interest in the parade, owing to his being a winner in both classes of army remounts. The people were shown in this parade of stallions an array of magnificent horse flesh that would have taken days of travel to see.

Some of the finest specimens of the show were driven in the class of High Actors, and the field of Gentlemen's Roadsters would have been a credit to any state fair in the country.

The special attractions were again presented and received with applause. A special number was Mr. Hill's riding of the "Cockaloo," to quote the announcer, "a bird with no wings, yet tried to fly." Mr. Hill's riding of this unbroken, bucking, biting animal was masterly and brought a storm of applause.

THE AWARDS

No. (38)—Double team (in harness).—1st, J. L. Rothrock, Washington C. H.; 2nd, Elmer Klever, Washington C. H.; 3rd, J. T. Ridge-way.

The management of the Horse Show is receiving congratulations from both foreign and local horsemen and the public generally and the Horse Sales opened today with equally bright prospects.

Mr. W. J. Galvin is manager of the Horse Show Co. Mr. Chas. Allen had the Horse Show program in charge and Judge Rell G. Allen is secretary and treasurer.

The official announcer, Mr. Os Peddicord, was in a class by himself and lending able assistance to the management were Howard Allen, Green & Cox, J. Martin Cox, Billie E. Paul, C. W. Mark, Val McCoy, W. A. Dacan, Will Campbell, Rankin Paul, Frank Myers and other horsemen.

ENCAMPMENT PROGRAM WILL BE STRONGEST OFFERED IN DECADE

Many National Speakers Will Be Here in June and Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan May Be Included in Number--Commander Blodgett Estimates Crowd at Not Less Than 25,000--Meeting at Memorial Hall Tonight.

A number of men of national prominence have already been secured as speakers at the Forty-seventh annual Grand Army of the Republic encampment to be held in this city June 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

The speakers in question have been secured by the Department Commander Rev. Chas. W. Blodgett, of Cincinnati, who has just made the announcement. A number of prominent persons will be added to the list by the local committee, according to present plans, and among others who will probably be invited is Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan, who never fails to draw an immense crowd.

At the great campfire on Wednesday evening, June 19th, Senator J. B. Foraker will be one of the speakers, and during the encampment National Commander-in-Chief Alfred R. Beers, of Bridgeport, Conn., and his staff will be present.

Governor Cox has also agreed to be here, together with General R. B. Brown, of Zanesville, Colonel John McElroy, of Washington, D. C., Congressman Sherwood and many others.

The program will be the best in a great many years, and will include more national speakers than ever before.

In an interview given to the Enquirer Tuesday, Commander Chas. W. Blodgett stated that not less than 25,000 veterans and their friends would attend the meeting here in June, and if the local committee is successful in securing Secretary of State Bryan as now planned, the crowd will be 15,000 to 25,000 greater, according to the estimation of some who have discussed the matter.

There will be four large campfires held, commencing Monday evening,

June 16th, and an additional meeting may be held on the last day.

Local plans are rapidly assuming definite form, and every effort will be made to make the encampment equal to that of 1905, when everyone was so greatly pleased with the entertainment furnished here.

A meeting of the entire committee on the G. A. R. Encampment will be held tonight at 7:30 at Memorial hall, and everyone on the committee is urged to attend without fail.

DEATH CAME TODAY TO WALKER BINEGAR RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Prominent Perry Township Farmer Meets Fatal Accident Today Noon and Death Quickly Follows.

Bridle Bit Snapped and Horse Reared, Tipping Cart and Hurling Unfortunate Man to His Death—Never Spoke After Fatal Blow Was Sustained—Entire Community Grief-stricken.

Like an electric shock the news of the violent death of Mr. Walker Binegar, of near New Martinsburg, spread over that community Wednesday noon, when Mr. Binegar met death while breaking a colt, the animal rearing and throwing him back upon the hard road with such force that his skull was crushed and he died within five minutes after the accident.

Mr. Binegar, who is a very large man and aged 55 years, was driving a spirited young horse, and was accompanied by his son, Waldo, a young man of 25 years. They were on a cart and driving along the Buena Vista and New Martinsburg pike near the residence of Wilbur Ellis, a mile west of New Martinsburg, when the bridle bit suddenly snapped and the horse commenced plunging wildly about.

The son leaped from the cart in an effort to seize the animal, but before he could reach it it reared and Mr. Binegar was precipitated backward, striking in the middle of the hard road.

In falling the unfortunate man struck the back of his head and the full weight of his body was behind the blow, causing the skull to give way like an egg-shell, and death speedily resulted.

Mr. Wilbur Ellis, who was working nearby and saw the accident, rushed at once to the scene and assisted Waldo in attending his father. Blood was pouring from the wound in the back of Mr. Binegar's head, and without regaining consciousness or making a sound other than a few gasps, he passed away. After the fatal accident the frightened horse ran on homeward, arriving there without injury.

Soon after Mr. Binegar's death scores of people from the surrounding neighborhood hurried to the scene. Dr. Jones, of Greenfield, arrived 30 minutes after the accident, finding the victim cold in death.

Coroner L. P. Howell, of this city, was notified and arrived upon the scene some two hours after the accident.

Mrs. Binegar was in Greenfield when the accident occurred, and when the news was conveyed to her she was heartbroken, as were the three children, Wallace, Waldo and Velma, the latter being about 14 years of age.

Opinions differ as to just how the accident occurred, the son stating that he was not sure whether his father was thrown backward or fell while attempting to leap from the cart. The former way is believed to be the manner in which the accident occurred however.

Mr. Binegar was one of the best known farmers in southern Fayette county, and has hundreds of warm friends who were shocked by the sad news of his untimely death. He possessed between 300 and 400 acres of land, and for some time has made his home with his son.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Bright Prospects For Horse Sale

With every indication pointing to the most successful horse sale yet held in the sales pavilion, the semi-annual sale of the Ohio Horse Sales company opened Wednesday morning.

The crowd is the best that has ever attended the sales of the company, and the buyers include men from a dozen different states.

The first horse sold was Mantell, trotter, bred by Chas. Allen, consigned by Grove City parties, and it brought $130. So far top prices have prevailed in the sale.

Many prominent horsemen, including many who have never before attended the sales here, are present. Newspaper men at the ring side are:

L. G. Duffy, editor American Sports man, formerly of Circleville, now of Cleveland, Ohio; Rolland C. Drake, of Lexington, Ky.; The Horseman and Spirit of the Times, Chicago, Ill.; Omer Van Kirk, Kentucky Trotting Record, Lexington, Ky.; Walter Moore, of Charleston, Ill.; Horse Review, Chicago, Ill.; Jay I. ### Faces Death In Columbus Hospital

Judge S. W. Durlinger, of London, is in a hospital at Columbus, his condition so critical that word of his death is momentarily expected.

Judge Durlinger served on the Common Pleas bench of this district, preceding Judge F. G. Carpenter and is a leading member of the Madison county bar. He is well and favorably known in this county, where many personal friends will learn of his condition with regret.

Judge Durlinger's daughter married Mrs. C. H. Murray's nephew, Mr. Dick Logan last summer.

Local Man Sells 5,000 Fat Sheep

What is claimed to be the largest drove of sheep ever sold by one man in the history of Ohio has just been disposed of by Hon. Humphrey Jones and the number sold reaches the 5,000 mark.

Mr. Jones is one of the largest land owners in Fayette county, and the sheep have been fattened upon his estate east of this city and also near Bloomington. He still has some 300 head left.

The 5,000 head were fat wethers, averaging 125 pounds to the head, and brought about 5 1/2c per pound, or an approximate total of $34,925, which, together with some $17,000 worth of cattle disposed of within the past few days, brings the total amount received for live stock to about $51,925.

Harry Geager of Springfield purchased the immense drove of sheep, and has been shipping them to Chicago and Pittsburg.

Will Rebuild More Highway

Bids for the rebuilding of the highway from the bridge over Pain creek immediately west of Bloomington, to the point where the new road was built last year, will be received at the State Highway Commissioner's office, until two o'clock p. m. May 15.

The improvement will be of the same character as that made on the road last year, and the part to be improved consists of 1.03 miles, the estimated cost of which is $6,914.40, and is to be completed by August 1, 1913.

The improvement on the road, which was to have been completed by Shumway & Hudson, of Portsmouth, last fall, will be completed this spring, and when the entire improvement is completed, the Devalon road will be the best road in the county, extending from the intersection with the Lewis pike to the bridge at Bloomington.

Strong Probability for Great Good

Among other communications which have appeared in the columns of The Herald, from citizens of Washington, which are deserving special consideration of the public are those communications relating to our local band and the giving of band concerts.

The people of this city have more than the nucleus of a good band right here now. Fortunately for them it would not be necessary to start at rock bottom and work clear up to a capable band and then on through the successive stages to a band of such recognized ability as to take rank with the best.

Washington has long been noted for the number of capable musicians numbered in its population, and these musicians, especially those of the band, have refused to be discouraged by a lack of cordial appreciation in the way of real support and have kept determinedly at the work of maintaining an efficient band here, from sheer love of music.

Popular concerts here during the summer months would attract crowds of visitors from a wide section of country and would do as much to put our city in the lime-light of public attention and keep it there as any one thing that could be done.

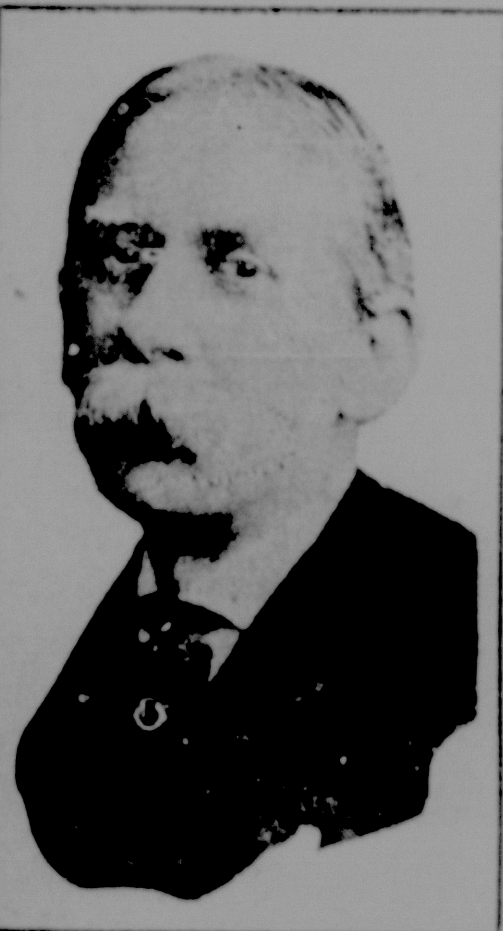

Really, if our people would only realize the possibilities, direct and indirect, which the "letters to the people" have opened up in suggesting popular and sacred band concerts they could not certainly remain inactive.

Not only would the concerts attract the best people here from a distant on nights when the concerts were to be given, but the pleasant anticipation of future concerts and the recollections of high class entertainments of the past would keep the city and its business constantly in the mind of the public outside.

When men set to work with a determination to boost their home town, they too frequently waste valuable time and energy searching for some big undertaking and overlook the small things of more real benefit which are theirs for the taking.

The people of Washington should look at these local band and concert suggestions from a selfish standpoint, figure up the matter from the standpoint of dollars and cents in profits direct and remote.

A movement which brought about the consummation of the plan suggested would not be the dispensation of charity to the band members. Neither would it be the expenditure of money wholly for pleasure. It would be a delightfully pleasant and immensely profitable means of "boosting the town".

Libraries Weak In the Work of the Present

By TALCOTT WILLIAMS, Columbia University Professor

LIBRARIES ARE STRONG IN THE PAST, BUT WEAK IN THE NOW.

The library can tell you about emigration from Cain's flight to "the land of Nod on the east of Eden," but can it give Taft's message vetoing the immigration bill because of the literacy clause? A library can give you all about some things, but can it give you all about everything up to TODAY? Until it does this it cannot affect the publicity movement or serve ammunition to the firing line.

I notice a decidedly "literary" tendency among librarians, and a very natural tendency it is. When reference is made in conversation or in public meetings to the business side of life and the library's relation to it some eager friend of culture usually goes through the appropriate incantations, CALLS UP THE GHOST OF THE CLASSICS and in their name exhorts his fellows not to forget that, after all, the world is MADE GOOD BY DOING GOOD and that the soul is more than bread and butter and that "the light that never was on sea or land" is more important than a good supply at a fair price of electric current.

I have no particular objections to this method of justifying one's conservatism, of making still more comfortable one's comfortable adjustment to things as they are.

I WILL SAY, HOWEVER, THAT I SHOULD NOT BE VERY SORRY IF I MISSED, IN A DISCUSSION OF A PRESENTATION OF THE UTILITARIAN WORK WHICH AWAITS ALL LIBRARIES, ALLUSIONS TO SPIRITUALITY, VITALITY, CULTURE, BREADTH, LITERATURE OF POWER AND OTHER THINGS FAMILIAR TO THOSE WHO DEAL IN IDEOLOGY.

Poetry For Today

LET NOT LOVE GO.

Now the purple night is past,
Now the moon more faintly glows,
Dawn has through thy casement cast
Roses on thy breast a rose;
Now the kisses are all done,
Now the world awakes anew,
Now the charmed hour is gone,
Let not love go, too.

When old Winter, creeping nigh,
Sprinkles raven hair with white,
Dims the brightly glancing eye,
Laughs away the dancing light,
Roses may forget their sun,
Lilies may forget their dew,
Beauties perish, one by one,
Let not love go, too.

Palaces and towers of pride
Crumble year by year away;
Creeds like robes are laid aside,
Even on very tombs decay!
When the all-conquering moth and rust
Gnaw the goodly garment through,
When the dust returns to dust,
Let not love go, too.

Kingdoms may melt away like snow,
Gods are spent like wasting flames,
Hardly the new peoples know
Their divine, thrice worshiped names!

At the last great hour of all,
When Thou makest all things new,
Father, hear Thy children call,
Let not love go, too.

—Alfred Noyes.

OLD AT 40.

Some Younger at 65 Than Others Are at 40 Years.

So many people whom you meet about the time they reach 40 begin by saying "I can't do this, and I can't do that, because I'm getting old now," they begin to act old, feel old and they are older in appearance than many who are much more advanced in years.

When you begin to feel old, when your energy begins to fail build yourself up with our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It is a wonderful blood-maker and strengthener.

Mr. J. N. Kelley, aged 75 who lives at Lake Charles, La., says: "I took Vinol for a run-down condition. It not only built up my strength, but I feel fifteen years younger than I did before taking it."

Thousands of old people have found in Vinol just the medicine they need to build up the feeble, weakened system and create strength. If it fails, we return your money. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington, D. C., H. H. H.

ASTOR ESTATE IS OVER $87,000,000

Value Much Greater Than Was First Estimated.

FINAL APPRAISAL IS MADE.

Here of Titanic Disaster Left $10,000,000 More Than Estate Was Thought to Be Worth—Vincent Astor Receives $65,603,547—Few Worthless Securities Found by Appraisers.

New York.—Final appraisal of the estate of John Jacob Astor, who went to his death on the Titanic, fixes the value at $87,216,691. This is approximately $10,000,000 more than the tentative appraisals and the assessed valuation indicated the estate to be worth.

The share of the estate which passes into the hands of William Vincent Astor, the first American member of the family to hold his legacy absolutely and without the intervention of trusts, amounts to $65,603,547.

The property set aside for Colonel Astor's first wife, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, was appraised at $787,397. The property placed in trust for Colonel Astor's second wife, who was Madeleine Force, was appraised at $1,695,792.

Unusual methods were adopted in the appraisal of the Astor estate. In stead of the estate retaining its own appraisers and the state comptroller retaining another set of appraisers, there was appointed a board of appraisers agreed upon by both sides. It was understood that the report of this board of experts should be accepted as final.

In the appraisal of property which had been left in trust for both the first and second wives of Colonel Astor the appraisals were made without knowledge on the part of the appraisers as to what purpose the property was to be devoted.

The value of the real estate, as determined by the appraisers, is approximately $64,000,000, while the securities he owned had a face value of $20,000,000. It is said that the worthless securities held by Colonel Astor were few.

Most of these were investments into which Colonel Astor had been led by his love for scientific experimentation, he evidently having been willing to invest money in ventures for the promotion of scientific theories in which, it is said, he had little hope of financial profit. By friends he had been induced to invest comparatively small sums in mining ventures.

The following are the principal items of realty, with the appraised valuations: Hotel Waldorf Astoria, including one-half of Astor court, $10,400,000; Hotel Knickerbocker, $4,875,000; Hotel St. Regis and three parcels adjoining, $3,975,000; Putnam building, $2,525,000; south one-half of the Astor House, $2,400,000; the Astor residence at 840 and 842 Fifth avenue, $2,475,000; the ground at the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-second street, $2,125,000; Cambridge hotel at 320-334 Fifth avenue, $1,475,000; Schermerhorn building, $1,800,000; 295-303 Sixth avenue with the adjoining five parcels in West Nineteenth street, $1,183,500.

The largest single stock holding was in the New York Central, of which securities Colonel Astor held 40,000 shares, valued at $4,450,000.

When Colonel Astor's body was found there was $3,817 in his pockets. The appraisal of the Astor jewelry is $161,920. The two principal items are a diamond sunburst valued at $78,000 and a diamond necklace valued at $80,000.

Charles W. Morse owed the Astor estate $110,000, which the executors say they have been unable to collect since the claim arose in 1900. The total deductions claimed by executors, including debts, administrative expenses, executors' commissions and attorneys' fees amount to $1,875,771.

The estate paid a preliminary tax of $3,150,000 last October. Owing to the increase in value upon final appraisal the estate will be required to pay thousands of dollars in additional tax.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

The cannery schooner, Sadie F. Callar, lost at sea 18 years ago somewhere in the Pacific ocean, has been called back from the port of missing ships. Walter McCary, of Tacoma, Washington, a submarine diver, found the vessel in 60 feet of water near Chignik, Alaska, recently and is now preparing to take out of the wreck nearly $50,000 in tin bullion with which she was laden.

On and after May 5 next, the London Times will be sold for a price equal to 4 cents American. In 1796 its price was 9 cents; it gradually advanced until it reached 14 cents in 1815. In 1836 the price fell to 10 cents and in 1861 to 6 cents where it has remained to the present time. The Napoleonic wars and the newspaper tax had a great deal to do with the fluctuations in the price of the Times. There are reasons to believe that its price will eventually be reduced to 1 penny, 2 cents which is coming to be the standard price of newspapers both in the United Kingdom and the United States.

The Athens county game warden who caught a starving young fox (that had been deserted by its mother) for the purpose of feeding and caring for the animal and who was arrested for the alleged crime had his trial yesterday when he was found guilty and fined $25 and costs for violating section 1416 of the game laws. The law reads, "No person shall catch, kill or injure any fox from the 1st of December to the 1st of September or both inclusive. The state conducted the defence. The case was interesting and is unique in the history of the state and will be carried through the courts.

The Jewish Feast of the Passover began Monday evening and lasts one week. It commemorates the deliverance of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage as described in the book of Exodus. Observant Jews abstain during Passover week from the use of ordinary bread and all leavened substances, substituting therefore a cracker called "matsoth" the traditional unleavened bread. Strictly orthodox Jews will not even use the ordinary dishes they have in use during the year. Public worship takes place only at the beginning and at the end of the week.

Col. J. H. Patterson, of Dayton, is now having erected at his own expense a camp for the homeless of his city, which in point of comfort and modern convenience may make some of the homeless glad they are homeless. It is located near the Cash Register works. Row after row of round khaki tents are located on either side of board walks, lighted by incandescent lamps which make the camp a miniature homelike city instead of a camp for the homeless. Each tent has a board floor. The drainage has been planned so that a great deal of rainfall will not cause discomfort. Particular attention has been given to a central tent where the homeless will eat their meals. The sanitary equipment of the camp is probably its most wonderful feature.

Mr. Patterson has moved his "magic wand" for the welfare of the masses in Dayton and a completed camp is the result.

THE LOVE OF ONE WOMAN

Lucy was anxiously waiting the coming of Gerald Nutting. For two weeks she had not seen him, and she had been both hurt and displeased at his silence, for she could only guess why he had not come. But to-day she had received a note from him telling her that he would call this evening. Immediately she had forgotten her misgivings, and in honor of his coming she had donned the dress he liked the best, and arranged her hair in the way that he had said pleased him most.

Time dragged along until it was 8 o'clock, and then the landlady came and told her that Mr. Nutting was waiting to see her. Lucy descended to the parlor with a happy smile on her lips. As she entered the room a young man rose and came forward.

"I can stop only a few minutes," Lucy said, after the first greeting, which was not very cordial on his part.

"I'm going away this evening," he explained, "and you don't want to feel disappointed. I'm going to be one of a theatre party."

"I suppose Beatrice Varney makes another one of the party," broke in Lucy, trying to keep her voice calm.

"Well, I might as well be honest with you, Lucy. She does. But it's not the same here in the city as it is in the country. Just because a fellow is engaged to one girl is no reason why he shouldn't notice another."

Pride held Lucy silent. He should not see how much he was hurting her. A few moments later when he took his leave she bade him good-by in a collected manner, but after she had gone to her own room she gave free vent to her feelings and sobbed out all her grief and sorrow.

"I wish I had never come to the city to work," she went on. "It was all so different in the country. Gerald used to love me then but now he seems to care only for Beatrice Varney. I can't help loving him no matter what he does—I shall always love him. Some day he will love me again—I know he will."

The girl dried her tears and tried to comfort herself with this crumb of hope. The days that followed were freighted with sorrow for Lucy, for after one or two evenings when he spent a few minutes with her his calls ceased altogether.

Time went by until two years had elapsed and then one day Lucy heard that Gerald Nutting had been very ill, and that though he had recovered, he was in danger of losing his sight. The girl did not hesitate in deciding that she would go to see him at once. To be sure she had no claim on him now, but she was an old friend, and he needed every bit of sympathy he could get at this trying time. In making her plans she did not think of Beatrice Varney, and she did not enter her mind until she reached his lodgings that afternoon and was ascending the stairs to his sitting room. When she remembered, fear clutched at her heart for the first time. Suppose she should find Beatrice there. What if he had married her, although she had never heard of it? Even if she were not there, suppose Gerald did not want her sympathy. Many thoughts like these tortured her, ere she dared to knock at the door.

When she did so, his voice bade her enter. He was sitting before the open fire, his head bowed in his hands. His attitude brought the tears to her eyes. She crossed the room swiftly, speaking his name in tender accents. He rose to his feet and groped his way toward her. "Lucy!" he cried, gladly, reaching out his hand to seek hers.

"I came as soon as—I heard," she said, gently.

"Dear, noble girl," he murmured, "I might have known you would come—it's so like you. You don't know how I have longed to see you, to ask your forgiveness."

"I forgave you long ago, Gerald," she interposed. "And you're not to think of it again. But you have friends there's Beatrice to comfort you."

"Beatrice," he repeated somewhat bitterly. "I haven't seen her since I was taken sick."

"You don't mean that she hasn't been to see you," cried Lucy. "I can't understand such a thing."

But it's true, Lucy. She only cared for me as long as I could take her to places and make things pleasant for her. The moment I needed a real friend she deserted me. But I do not regret it—I never really cared for her. I've only loved one girl, and I don't need to say who it is. But it's too late now. You don't care."

Lucy's eyes were shining with happiness. "It's not too late," she broke in. "I have never changed, Gerald. You mean that you love me still," he said, almost breathlessly. "Do you love could you marry a man who was blind?"

"Yes, I do. I could," she answered. "Heaven bless you, dear," he murmured. "I knew you would say that—I knew if you loved me that the other would make no difference, but I was afraid you had left off caring. But it would be as bad as you heard, I got a specialist yesterday. It's a question of a delicate operation, but there's no doubt but that it will be successful," he said. "But best of everything is the thought that you would love me anyway."

He put his arms around her and kissed her, kissing her almost passionately.—FRISCELLA CAMPBELL.

A Natural Assumption.
He was a drummer of the more flashy type and had just finished telling a startling story to his newly made acquaintance in the parlor car. "That reminds me of one of Munchausen's yarns," remarked the victim, for want of something better to say.

"Munchausen? Who is he?" "Why, don't you know him? He is the most colossal example of mendacity that civilization has produced."

A brief, painful silence ensued, which was broken by the traveler in a tone that was almost timid.

"Excuse me, my friend," he said. "If I seem inquisitive, but would you mind telling me what house he travels for?"

The Song from the Crag.
I stood upon the shoulder of the crag Where the wind was fresh and free, I heard the wavelike murmur of the pines That sounded dreamily; The pines that some day should be naked masts Were singing of the sea.

I lay upon the rough breast of the crag And warm it was to me, I thought it whispered to me all its hope In a mood of solemn glee: The rock was talking of the temple wall Of which it was to be.

And there upon the houseless, warm cheeked crag My own heart spoke to me, My soul was singing of its havens far And its immortal sea, My life communed of God's great temple wall Of which it was to be.

—William Byron Forbush.

CALLS WASHINGTON THE LEXINGTON OF THE BUCKEYE STATE

Hon. George M. Rommell Praises
Fayette County for Many Fine
Horses, and Says Exhibit Here
Was Surprise--Other Well-known Horsemen Are Greatly Pleased With Recent Show.

"Washington C. H., is to Ohio what Lexington is to Kentucky when it comes to being a center for good horses," said Hon. George M. Rommell, Chief of the Department of Animal Husbandry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., who was one of the judges at the horse show.

Continuing on the subject, Mr. Rommell further said: "I have known that Washington C. H. was a noted horse raising center, but I was most agreeably surprised and pleased with the class exhibited in the show here, and have never before seen such a handsome aggregation as some of the classes shown. Fayette county is far ahead of what it had previously been thought, and I hope that I will again have the pleasure of being with you. The crowd in attendance at the various performances has been a representative one, and was made up of a very intelligent class of people."

Other horsemen who had never before visited this city were greatly pleased with what they beheld, and are anxious that another show be held this fall.

In giving to Washington the title of "The Lexington of Ohio," Mr. Rommell paid the city and county a high tribute, and incidentally used the term which Lima, O., has long claimed, but which now rightly belongs to Washington.

That Fayette county will become a center of the cavalry and artillery horse breeding, is predicted as a result of the recent show, as the horsemen are now fully acquainted with the best type of animals desired, and the price paid for army remounts is attractive and an inducement to increase the raising of more animals for the government service.

Mr. Rommell's statement that if a war were to break out enough desirable horses could not be found to mount the cavalry indicates that for a great many years to come the price of remounts will be good, and an inducement for the breeding of the remount classes.

James M. Wallace, director of the Wallace Orchestra, paid a high compliment to the community by saying the class of people who attended the show was exceptionally fine, with none of the rowdiness which is so often found in like events elsewhere.

Only Juice Of Grape Unfermented

Washington, April 23.—Diplomatic circles were in animated discussion yesterday over Secretary Bryan's dinner party the other night to some 40 distinguished members of the diplomatic corps, at which unfermented grape juice was served in place of the variety of wines which customarily have a place. Officialdom talked so much about the innovation that the story leaked out.

May 11 Fixed As Mother's Day

Columbus, Ohio, April 23.—Cox has fixed May 11 as "Mother's Day," which is to be observed by the wearing of a white carnation. He issued the following proclamation:

"In response to a sentiment as general as human existence itself, it seems desirable that one day in the year be set aside and consecrated to the blessed memory of motherhood.

"It is therefore urged that the people of the state of Ohio observe Sunday, May 11, 1913, as Mother's Day. That they each and all wear a carnation of pure white upon that day; and they gather at their places of worship and in their homes, or wherever they happen to be, and, with appropriate ceremonies, give heed unto the majesty of the occasion."

Miraculous Escape

Mrs. Marie Thomas returned home Tuesday evening after a visit of a few days with her sister, Mrs. Pearl Harmon in Dayton. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon were in the flooded district having 18 inches of water in their rooms on the second floor. The water on Wayne avenue being 18 1/2 feet deep.

They were marooned with 21 others, including 5 little children, on the house roof, from noon Tuesday until 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. And were rescued Thursday morning by being lowered into boats with ropes. With the exception of colds, which were contracted through exposure, they consider they had a miraculous escape.

8,000 KILLED.

Special to Herald.
Cetingo, April 23.—The Montenegrin troops today entered Scutaria after two days of fierce fighting.

Three thousand Montenegrins fell and five thousand Turks were killed during the two days engagement.

Kentucky Beauties

Three exceptionally handsome horses, owned by Mr. Clarence C. Harris, who was one of the judges at the horse show Tuesday, arrived from Lexington, Ky., at noon Wednesday, to be consigned to the sales now in progress at the pavilion.

This is only one of a number of choice lots which have arrived for the sale within the past few days.

Secretary of State

Who Will Be Sent to California

Bryan to Go To California

Special to Herald.

Washington, D. C., April 23.

—President Wilson today wired Governor Johnson, of California asking whether enactment of anti-Japanese legislation could not be held over until Secretary of State Bryan could come to California and there explain to the legislature the position of the Federal government in regard to threatened enactment.

There is no longer any doubt apparently but that the Federal government regards the situation as extremely grave. Sending the Secretary of State across the continent to explain in person, is taken as a sign of the gravity of the situation as viewed by the President.

Condition Of Ohio Wheat Good

Columbus, April 23.—The Ohio crop report for April 1 shows that the condition of the growing wheat crop was on that date 93 per cent of a full average. The damage by the storm of the last week of March does not seem to have been serious.

It is more than offset by the additional area sown for the crop of 1913 and the unusually good condition of the growing plants. Thirteen per cent of the crop of 1912 is still in hands of the farmers.

Rye condition is put at 94 per cent by the report. The condition of corn in the crib is rated at 87 per cent and but seven per cent of the corn of last year's crop remained out unhusked all winter.

The state board of agriculture estimates the loss by floods to Ohio farmers and winds at $16,000,000. The figures were based on reports from 1630 farmers in 1000 townships.

Deep Interest Taken In Lecture

The audience which viewed the illustrations on the screen at the Y. M. C. A. and heard Dr. W. E. Ireland's lecture on Tuberculosis Tuesday night, was greatly impressed with what they saw and heard, and never before was the subject of tuberculosis so forcibly brought home to them as by the illustrated lecture.

In his lecture Dr. Ireland stated that there are two great sources of contagion connected with the disease the first is from expectorations of persons having the disease, and from milk of tuberculous cows, adding that the dust is a great carrier of the disease.

He also stated that tubercle bacilli retain their virulence for months and even years under favorable conditions; one consumptive expectorates several billion germs each day; the disease is preventable and curable. Pure air, good food, plenty of rest and cleanliness are the essentials mentioned to cure the disease.

Another lecture will be given tonight, and it will be profusely illustrated. The exhibit is drawing hundreds of people to the building.

Temperature Below Normal Condition Is Yet Serious

POPE PIUS NOT YET CONVALESCENT

Has Another Fainting Fit Due to His Weakness.

Rome, April 23.—The pope had another fainting fit, due to his weakness. Dr. Amici was present and had no trouble in reviving him. The pontiff's temperature is below the normal and was 97 when Professor Marchiafava visited him.

The physicians had a long conference with Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, and warned him that all precautions should be observed. While the pope was in no danger, they said, he was not yet convalescent. His prolonged weakness was a bad sign and a repetition of the fainting fit was possible.

Ten cardinals went to the vatican and asked to be allowed to see the pope. Cardinal Merry Del Val refused to grant the request on the ground that it was against the directions of the physicians.

view by the majority leaders in the senate, who met with him and agreed upon the form of the telegraphic reply to President Wilson's message.

Opposition to the administration program will come from the Democrats, aided by a few Republicans who are opposed to anti-alien legislation of any kind. The Democrats will seek to strike out the words "ineligible to citizenship" in any bill considered, and on this point the real fight on the measure will be waged.

Telegrams Exchanged.

President Wilson in his message said: "I appeal with the utmost confidence to the people, the government and the legislature of California to act in the matter now under consideration in a manner that can not from any point of view be fairly challenged or called in question. If they deem it necessary to exclude all aliens who have not declared their intentions to become citizens, from the privileges of land ownership, they can do so along lines already followed in the laws of many of the other states and of many foreign countries, including Japan herself. Invidious discrimination will inevitably draw in question the treaty obligations of the government of the United States."

Governor Johnson replied: "I think I may assure you that it is the desire of the majority of members of the legislature to do nothing in the matter of the alien land bills that will be embarrassing to our own government or offensive to anyone. It is the desire of the legislature specifically to provide in any act that nothing therein shall be construed as affecting or impairing any rights covered by treaty, although from the legal standpoint this is deemed unnecessary. If any act be passed it will be general in character, relating to those who are ineligible to citizenship, and the language employed will be that which precedent sanctions in statutes which now exist on the subject."

MAY INITIATE ACT

People of California Insisting Upon Passage of Alien Bill.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—President Wilson has been repeatedly informed by the California representatives in congress, whom he called into conference at the White House, that the people of the state were insisting upon the passage of the legislation which had aroused the protest of the Japanese government. He learned that public sentiment in favor of the legislation was so strong that if the legislature failed to pass a satisfactory law the people themselves, through the initiative which they have adopted, might originate and pass a law which would prove much more embarrassing from an international standpoint than any of the bills now pending.

HEED THE COUGH

THAT HANGS ON.

The seeds of consumption may be in lurk, and a cough that hangs on weakens your system, and lowers your vital resistance to disease. Take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It stops the cough, heals the inflamed membranes, and strengthens the lungs. E. D. Reantree, Stillmore, Cal., says: "La Grippe left me with a deep seated hacking and painful cough from which I could get no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It completely cured me." # BRAND TOO LATE.

No Foreign Post For Whitlock. Washington, April 23.—Senator Pomeroy saw Secretary of State Bryan and asked that Brand Whitlock, Toledo mayor, be made minister to Switzerland or Belgium. He learned that both places have virtually been tendered to other aspiring Democrats. The real trouble lies in the belated announcement of Whitlock's aspirations.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Pottery Girls Get Raise. East Liverpool, O., April 23.—Striking pottery girls, at work pending a settlement of their demands, have been granted an increase in wages and better working conditions by a board of arbitration, especially selected for considering the difficulty. The girls, 1,000 in number, led by Mrs. J. H. Bixby, asked for a raise from $1.05 and $1.15 a day to $1.50. They have been granted a scale ranging from $1.25 to $1.35, according to the class of work.

Cameron and Huling in Court. Columbus, O., April 23.—I. B. Cameron, former state treasurer, and Cyrus Huling, former president of the Columbus Savings and Trust company, pleaded not guilty to the charge of having illegally converted and loaned $250,000 of state funds. Both Mr. Cameron and Mr. Huling waived the reading of the joint indictments, and assured Judge Kinkead that they would be on hand when their cases are called for trial, May 12 and 19.

Says Woman Met Unnatural Death. Springfield, O., April 23.—Dr. J. L. Coons, pathologist of Columbus, who made a post-mortem examination of the internal organs of Mrs. Florence Caviler Smith, for whose death her husband, Dr. Arthur H. Smith, is being tried for murder, testified that the woman, in his belief, had met an unnatural death. He said he found no traces of potassium cyanide or other poison, as is charged in the indictment against Dr. Smith.

Boom Butler For Place.

Columbus, O., April 23.—J. G. Butler, Jr., of Youngstown, will be recommended to President Wilson for appointment as special commissioner of this country to England in the summer of 1914 for the dedication of Salisbury Manor, home of George Washington's ancestors near Northampton, England, by the Ohio Society of Sons of the American Revolution, which held its annual convention here.

Two Sleepers Turn Over.

Ravenna, O., April 23.—Two Pullman sleepers attached to a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train, westbound from New York to Chicago, overturned near here. Four persons were injured, Charles Stewart, a San Francisco attorney, and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Poppleton of Cleveland. Stewart's shoulder was broken. The others were badly bruised.

Charged With Bootlegging.

Bellefontaine, O., April 23.—Clinton States, state patrolman at the Lewis town reservoir, was arrested by Sheriff Cook on a charge of bootlegging. States gave bond in probate court for his appearance May 1.

RID YOUR FEET OF SORE CORNS.

Quite easy now to extract any kind of a corn—just apply Putnam's Corn Extractor—it works wonders, stops the pain quickly, the thick tissue is softened, and healing goes right to the heart of the corn. In a few hours the hard core is loosened and separated from the toe. Out comes the corn. Toe is left smooth—not a mark left. Use only Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, recommended by druggists and sold in 25c bottles by Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.

CHILDREN FORCE PROBE OF CHARGES

Committee Appointed to Sift Heeter Case to the Bottom.

Pittsburg, April 23.—The strike of school children against S. L. Heeter as superintendent of the city's school system spread rapidly. Thousands of children remained away from school as a protest against Heeter, who was acquitted by a jury of two serious charges preferred by a domestic employee at his home. In all parts of the city school children paraded the streets, tying up traffic at a number of busy points and necessitating the calling out of police reserves to maintain order. One little girl was killed by an automobile and there were several arrests of men.

When the demonstration of the children had ceased, the Pittsburg board of education held a meeting, at which a committee of seven prominent men was asked to investigate the various alleged charges of immorality against Superintendent Heeter.

BOY LIBERATES MICE IN CROWDED SUBWAY CAR.

New York, April 23.—An office boy got seats for himself and friends in a Broadway subway express by freeing a score of mice from a cardboard box and taking advantage of the stampede that followed. The car in which he and friends hung from straps in a corner was filled with home-going working girls, and when the boy uncovered the box there was a screaming rush. A spectator said that some girls who clung to straps saved themselves by clinging as in a gymnasium. Most of the passengers and the guards didn't know whether it was a fire or a fight until the car was cleared. Then the mice were found.

NOTHING DOING YET

GREETED WITH CRIES OF "NEVER"

Lord Cecil Makes Appeal In Commons For Equal Suffrage.

London, April 23.—Lord Robert Cecil, in presenting a petition in the house of commons in favor of the enfranchisement of women, was very careful to explain that militant suffragettes, or the members of the Women's Social and Political union, had not shared it. It was presented on behalf of 27 societies of women who were opposed to the methods of the militants. The latter have no use for petitions. Lord Robert's appeal was greeted with cries of "Never," "Never." Sir Courtenay Ilbert, the clerk of the house of commons, afterwards read the petition.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar Compound fails to cure your cough or cold. John Bernet, Tell, Wis., states: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as a family medicine for five years and it has always given the best of satisfaction and produced good results. It will always cure a cough or cold. For children it is indispensable on account of its pleasant taste and its freedom from opiates." Refuse substitutes. Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.

Rejected

Commission Plan Rejected. Marietta, O., April 23.—With less than 20 per cent of the vote polled, Marietta by a vote of 408 to 218 rejected a proposal to adopt a commission form of government. Conditions since the recent flood prevented any interest being taken in the election.

is said the government decided to accept the compromise on the advice of the king.

The leaders of the Socialist trades unions and their followers gained their chief point, which was to make the government take up for consideration a change of the Belgian parliamentary franchise with its hated system of plural votes for the wealthier and more educated classes. At the last returns 99,070 men possessed one vote, 395,800 two votes and 308,683 three votes, so that the government's vote was overwhelming.

Because they cured him of kidney and bladder trouble, C. H. Grant, 230 Waverly St., Peoria, Ill., tells the result of his taking Foley Kidney Pills. "Backache and congested kidneys made me suffer intense pains. Was always tired and floating specks bothered me. Took Foley Kidney Pills and saw big improvement after third day. I kept on until entirely freed of all trouble and suffering. That's why I recommend Foley Kidney Pills. They cured me." They are tonic in action, quick in results. Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.

THE FINAL TARIFF BOUT IS BEGUN IN EARNEST

CALLED UP FOR GENERAL DEBATE

Tariff Revision Bill Before House of Representatives.

UNDERWOOD PRESENTS DATA

Debate To Be Limited to Eight Legislative Days, and Amendments Will Likely Be Curtailed — Estimate of the Amount Uncle Sam Will Receive Through the Income Tax, Chairman's Statement.

Washington, April 23.—The Underwood tariff bill, reported by the chairman of the ways and means committee, was called up in the house today for general debate.

Democrats of the house will caucus to pass on a rule proposed to limit general debate on the bill to eight legislative days and to curtail amendments, when the bill is read section by section, before being placed upon its passage.

The tariff revision bill recommends a radical readjustment of the entire fiscal policy of the nation. The Democrats proposed to make an income tax the means of accurately adjusting the funds to be raised by taxation, to correspond with necessities for government expenditures.

The report, submitted by Chairman Underwood, after outlining the operations of the proposed income tax, said: "The revenues from all income taxes readily respond to changes of rates and the latter can be raised or lowered within a few days' time, without business disturbances such as general tariff changes occasion."

Outline Policy.

The Democrats, outlining their policy in the preparation of the bill, announced an absolute disregard for the cost-of-production theory as regulatory of tariff rates, and declared that in the pending bill they had attempted: "To eliminate protection of profits and to cut off duties which enabled industrial managers to exact a bonus for which no equivalent is rendered. To introduce in every line of industry a competitive tariff basis providing for a substantial amount of importation, to the end that no concern shall be able to feel that it has a monopoly of the home market gained other than through the fact that it is able to furnish better goods at lower prices than others."

The increased cost of living was mentioned as the most striking economic change needing adjustment through the tariff. A table presented gave the percentage of increase since 1897 to 1910 in farm products as 92.2 per cent; food 46.7; clothing, 35.8; metals and implements, 48.2; drugs and chemicals, 23.9; house-furnishing goods, 24.2; miscellaneous, 44.5, an average increase of such commodities of 46.7 per cent. In close conjunction with the high cost of living, the report suggested the development of trusts and industrial combinations during the same period and gave a list of 226 such combinations organized since 1897.

Income Tax.

Chairman Underwood presented an interesting table of the number of people caught by the new income tax and the amount that they will pay into the government coffers. The table shows that:

126,000 incomes between $4,000 and $5,000 will pay $630,000 tax.
 178,000 incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 will pay $5,340,000.
 63,000 incomes between $10,000 and $15,000 will pay $4,240,000.
 24,500 incomes between $15,000 and $25,000 will pay $3,185,000.
 10,500 incomes between $20,000 and $25,000 will pay $2,100,000.
 1,000 incomes between $25,000 and $50,000 will pay $9,666,000.
 5,500 incomes between $50,000 and $100,000 will pay $11,560,000.
 2,500 incomes between $100,000 and $250,000 will pay $11,650,000.
 500 incomes between $250,000 and $500,000 will pay $11,650,000.
 50 incomes between $500,000 and $1,000,000 will pay $9,191,000.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON

Outlines California's Stand in Message to President.

Once Again The Countess Is Married

Countess of Yarmouth Weds. Brunswick, Ga., April 23.—Mrs. Conley Thaw, better known as the Countess of Yarmouth, was quietly married at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Carnegie, at Dunwoody, on Cumberland Island, to Geoffrey C. Whitney of Boston. Mrs. Whitney is the divorced wife of the present Marquis of Hertford, he having succeeded to that title since Mrs. Thaw secured her divorce some years ago and returned to this country. The bridegroom is a prominent banker and broker in Boston.

100 incomes of over $1,000,000 will pay $5,825,000.
This is a total of 425,000 incomes to be taxed $70,125,000.

BIG STRIKE TO BE CALLED OFF

Industrial Suspension Cost the Country Many Millions and Drove Away From Manufacturers Customers They May Never Win Back—Government's Action Based On Advice of the King.

Brussels, Belgium, April 23.—The government has accepted the compromise proposed by the Liberal leader, H. P. Mason, and the great strike for universal suffrage, which on account of the remarkable discipline maintained, the solidarity of those who joined in the movement and skillful organization is unique in history, will be called off tomorrow. Only a week ago the Belgian premier, Charles De Broqueville, declared: "No government could yield to a strike of this nature. To yield would be to abdicate."

Nevertheless the strike seems to have made sufficient impression on the government to induce it to unbend from its uncompromising attitude far enough to insure the termination of a situation which has already cost the country many millions and is daily driving away from the manufacturers customers they may never win back. ### AVIATION INCIDENT ADDS TO FEELING

GERMAN AIRMEN SEIZED

They Ran Short of Fuel and Landed On French Territory.

Nancy, France, April 23.—Another aviation incident on the French frontier increased the tension between France and Germany. Captain Von Deyall, chief aviator inspector at Darmstadt, and Lieutenant Von Mirbach, in a military biplane, landed a little to the northward of Arracourt, where the Zeppelin Z 4, the German military dirigible, landed only a few days ago. Von Deyall and Von Mirbach were arrested. They declared that they were flying from Darmstadt to Metz and had been compelled to descend because they ran short of fuel. They believed that they were landing on German territory. After further investigation the German airmen were released.

Columbus, O., April 23.—Japanese citizens of Honolulu have just sent $556 to the Ohio flood sufferers. Governor Cox also received 25,000 lire, equivalent to $5,000, from Italian citizens of Chicago; $69 from citizens of Nome, Alaska; $1,000 from William R. Hearst and $2,000 from the Hearst newspapers.

WHEN she was Miss Lilla Gilbert, New York society belle and heiress to $15,000,000 she said she wanted to marry her "ideal." He must be a brunette, with a curl over his left ear; Republican and Episcopal; clean shaven, fond of athletics and know all about pigs and poultry. After she had decided on all these beautiful qualifications along came Howard Price Renshaw of her own set in New York. He didn't fit the bill by a jugful. But she became engaged and recently married him. Her "red" husband has sandy hair and a red mustache. He's a Democrat, but admits being an Episcopalian. He is not up on sport and knows no more than a city street urchin about pigs and poultry. So there you are.

GEORGE CHAMBERLAIN

Oregon Senator Who Would Abrogate the Canal Treaty.

Senator George F. Chamberlain introduced a resolution to abrogate the Hay-Pauncefote and the Clayton-Bulwer treaties under which Great Britain claims the right to a voice in the administration and management of the Panama canal. They furnish the only basis upon which the protest is justified against the clause exempting American coastwise ships from the payment of tolls.

Ohio crop report for April shows that the condition of the growing wheat crop is 93 per cent of a full average.

GOLDEN STATE MEN INSIST

JOHNSON REPLIES TO WILSON

California's Governor and His Party Leaders in Senate Favor Measure Excluding From Land Ownership in the State All Aliens Ineligible to Citizenship Under the Laws of the United States.

Sacramento, Cal., April 23.—Through the exchange of telegrams between President Wilson and Governor Johnson, the settled policy of the California administration on the question of alien land ownership was officially made known.

Governor Johnson and his party leaders in the senate favor a bill excluding from land ownership in the state all aliens ineligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States. Such a law probably will be passed, in spite of the objections from Washington.

The assertion is made by the governor that a state law of this nature would not be in contravention of any existing treaty. He is upheld in this

IN A SPLENDOR OF ACHIEVEMENT MAINTAINING ITS HIGH STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE HORSE SHOW CAME TO A CLOSE

Many Notable Horsemen Extend Unstinted Praise to the "Bluegrass Section of Ohio," to the "Lexington of the Buckeye State" on the Great Success of the Endeavor.

FUTURE SHOWS ASSURED
MANY REMAIN FOR SALE

Four Large and Appreciative Audiences See Four Good Shows, Each One Rivaling the Other as a Success.

The big sales pavilion was again the scene of a great concourse of horse lovers and society folk, Tuesday night, when the concluding Horse Show performance brought to a brilliant termination one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held in this section of the state. Every seat was taken and hundreds found standing room only, but to the last enthusiasm remained unabated and the speedway with its showing of classy horses, the splendid music of the Wallace orchestra, giving the fullest program of the four performances, and the especial attractions evoked the banner applause of the show.

Withal that the first Horse Show of the Ohio Sales Co., of Washington C. H., meant two days of unalloyed pleasure and excitement, there was a deeper interest attached in that it brought to the attention educational features of genuine value to the horse world. Its dominant purpose was to instruct and incite to high class breeding of those horses in greatest demand in our own country. At present there is a very great shortage in cavalry and artillery remounts and it was with the special aim of encouraging the raising of this class of horses that the management secured Hon. Geo. H. Rommell, chief of the Department of Animal Husbandry, Washington, D. C. Mr. Rommell not alone acted as one of the judges, he also gave information in regard to the model type of the cavalry remount and the true type of the artillery remount, and gave impetus to this line of breeding. Mr. Rommell expressed himself enthusiastically over Baron Bond, owned by Mr. Chas. Allen, the prize winner of the stallions best suited to sire cavalry remounts and cited him as a fine type for this purpose.

Judging with Messrs. Rommell and Shepard Tuesday afternoon and evening was Mr. Clarence C. Harris, of Lexington, Ky., one of the most widely known horse show judges of the country and the owner of a number of famous horses. Mr. Harris had winning horses entered last year in the New York Horse Show as well as in several other of the large eastern shows and makes the statement that three of the most valuable horses he ever owned came from the "Ohio Blue Grass" region.

THE AFTERNOON SHOW

There was a splendid afternoon crowd and as on the previous day, interest centered in the classes of geldings and stallions suitable for artillery remounts.

There was a large bunch of fine saddle horses entered in the Five-Gaited Horse event, and the Jumping horses gave a better performance than Monday.

A class of colts seldom seen in one ring was found in the two-year-old harness class.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill gave another of their expert exhibitions in rope spinning and in combination some fast riding and bare back specialties. The high school horse, "Laddie W", had recovered from his recent accident and was shown in clever tricks by his owner, Prof. Whitlow.

NIGHT SHOW

The official announcer, Mr. Os Peddicord, prefaced the evening performance with an announcement of the Ohio Horse Sales Co.'s big sale, beginning Wednesday morning, and in which 300 select horses will pass under the hammer.

The Wallace Orchestra gave a fine opening program, playing several numbers by request.

A mighty good bunch of 3-year-olds went down the stretch in the opening class.

After the awards had been made the official cup-bearer, "Billy" Paul presented to Mr. Chas. Allen on behalf of the management, a handsome big bunch of flowers, in appreciation of his strenuous efforts, contributing so largely to the success of the show, and also in recognition of what he is doing for the uplift of the horse standards in Fayette Co.

The cheering which broke from the crowd was no less a tribute to Mr. Allen.

On Monday night the management presented Mrs. Hill with a beautiful bouquet.

A number of the county's noted stallions were again led in parade by the famous "Bobby Burns". Added to the noted stallions shown Monday night were McGrath, owned by C. A. Rob, of Kenton; Expedition, Mr. Spragg, S. Charleston; Bay Wreath, record 2:18 1/4 by Crescus and "The Candy," by Sugar Bob.

2:09 1/2, Steve Phillips; Wallace McKinney, Iroquois. Lt. Galbreath; Ohio Bond, W. L. Bedwell, Van Wert; Baron Bond, owned by Mr. Chas. Allen, was an object of special interest in the parade, owing to his being a winner in both classes of army remounts. The people were shown in this parade of stallions an array of magnificent horse flesh that would have taken days of travel to see.

Some of the finest specimens of the show were driven in the class of High Actors, and the field of Gentlemen's Roadsters would have been a credit to any state fair in the country.

The special attractions were again presented and received with applause. A special number was Mr. Hill's riding of the "Cockaloola," to quote the announcer, "a bird with no wings, yet tried to fly." Mr. Hill's riding of this unbroken, bucking, biting animal was masterly and brought a storm of applause.

THE AWARDS

The management of the Horse Show is receiving congratulations from both foreign and local horsemen and the public generally and the Horse Sales opened today with equally bright prospects.

Mr. W. J. Galvin is manager of the Horse Show Co. Mr. Chas. Allen had the Horse Show program in charge and Judge Reil G. Allen is secretary and treasurer.

The official announcer, Mr. Os Peddicord, was in a class by himself and lending able assistance to the management were Howard Allen, Green & Cox, J. Martin Cox, Billie E. Paul, C. W. Mark, Val McCoy, W. A. Dacon, Will Campbell, Rankin Paul, Frank Myers and other horsemen.

ENCAMPMENT PROGRAM WILL BE STRONGEST OFFERED IN DECADE

Many National Speakers Will Be Here in June and Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan May Be Included in Number--Commander Blodgett Estimates Crowd at Not Less Than 25,000--Meeting at Memorial Hall Tonight.

A number of men of national prominence have already been secured as speakers at the Forty-seventh annual Grand Army of the Republic encampment to be held in this city June 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

The speakers in question have been secured by the Department Commander Rev. Chas. W. Blodgett, of Cincinnati, who has just made the announcement. A number of prominent persons will be added to the list by the local committee, according to present plans, and among others who will probably be invited is Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan, who never fails to draw an immense crowd.

At the great campfire on Wednesday evening, June 19th, Senator J. B. Foraker will be one of the speakers, and during the encampment National Commander-in-Chief Alfred R. Beers, of Bridgeport, Conn., and his staff will be present.

Governor Cox has also agreed to be here, together with General R. B. Brown, of Zanesville, Colonel John McElroy, of Washington, D. C., Congressman Sherwood and many others.

The program will be the best in a great many years, and will include more national speakers than ever before.

In an interview given to the Enquirer Tuesday, Commander Chas. W. Blodgett stated that not less than 25,000 veterans and their friends would attend the meeting here in June, and if the local committee is successful in securing Secretary of State Bryan as now planned, the crowd will be 15,000 to 25,000 greater, according to the estimation of some who have discussed the matter.

There will be four large campfires held, commencing Monday evening,

June 16th, and an additional meeting may be held on the last day.

Local plans are rapidly assuming definite form, and every effort will be made to make the encampment equal to that of 1905, when everyone was so greatly pleased with the entertainment furnished here.

A meeting of the entire committee on the G. A. R. Encampment will be held tonight at 7:30 at Memorial hall, and everyone on the committee is urged to attend without fail.

DEATH CAME TODAY TO WALKER BINEGAR RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Prominent Perry Township Farmer Meets Fatal Accident Today Noon and Death Quickly Follows.

Bridle Bit Snapped and Horse Reared, Tipping Cart and Hurling Unfortunate Man to His Death—Never Spoke After Fatal Blow Was Sustained—Entire Community Grief-stricken.

Like an electric shock the news of the violent death of Mr. Walker Binegar, of near New Martinsburg, spread over that community Wednesday noon, when Mr. Binegar met death while breaking a colt, the animal rearing and throwing him back upon the hard road with such force that his skull was crushed and he died within five minutes after the accident.

Mr. Binegar, who is a very large man and aged 55 years, was driving a spirited young horse, and was accompanied by his son, Waldo, a young man of 25 years. They were on a cart and driving along the Buena Vista and New Martinsburg pike near the residence of Wilbur Ellis, a mile west of New Martinsburg, when the bridle bit suddenly snapped and the horse commenced plunging wildly about.

The son leaped from the cart in an effort to seize the animal, but before he could reach it it reared and Mr. Binegar was precipitated backward, striking in the middle of the hard road.

In falling the unfortunate man struck the back of his head and the full weight of his body was behind the blow, causing the skull to give way like an egg-shell, and death speedily resulted.

Mr. Wilbur Ellis, who was working nearby and saw the accident, rushed at once to the scene and assisted Waldo in attending his father. Blood was pouring from the wound in the back of Mr. Binegar's head, and without regaining consciousness or making a sound other than a few gasps, he passed away. After the fatal accident the frightened horse ran on homeward, arriving there without injury.

Soon after Mr. Binegar's death scores of people from the surrounding neighborhood hurried to the scene. Dr. Jones, of Greenfield, arrived 30 minutes after the accident, finding the victim cold in death.

Coroner L. P. Howell, of this city, was notified and arrived upon the scene some two hours after the accident.

Mrs. Binegar was in Greenfield when the accident occurred, and when the news was conveyed to her she was heartbroken, as were the three children, Wallace, Waldo and Velma, the latter being about 14 years of age.

Opinions differ as to just how the accident occurred, the son stating that he was not sure whether his father was thrown backward or fell while attempting to leap from the cart. The former way is believed to be the manner in which the accident occurred however.

Mr. Binegar was one of the best known farmers in southern Fayette county, and has hundreds of warm friends who were shocked by the sad news of his untimely death. He possessed between 300 and 400 acres of land, and for some time has made his home with his son.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Bright Prospects For Horse Sale

With every indication pointing to the most successful horse sale yet held in the sales pavilion, the semi-annual sale of the Ohio Horse Sales company opened Wednesday morning.

The crowd is the best that has ever attended the sales of the company, and the buyers include men from a dozen different states.

The first horse sold was Mantell, trotter, bred by Chas. Allen, consigned by Grove City parties, and it brought $130. So far top prices have prevailed in the sale.

Many prominent horsemen, including many who have never before attended the sales here, are present. Newspaper men at the ring side are:

L. G. Duffy, editor American Sports man, formerly of Circleville, now of Cleveland, Ohio; Rolland C. Drake, of Lexington, Ky.; The Horseman and Spirit of the Times, Chicago, Ill.; Omer Van Kirk, Kentucky Trotting Record, Lexington, K.; Walter Moore, of Charleston, Ill.; Horse Review, Chicago, Ill.; Jay I. ## Local Man Sells 5,000 Fat Sheep

What is claimed to be the largest drove of sheep ever sold by one man in the history of Ohio has just been disposed of by Hon. Humphrey Jones and the number sold reaches the 5,000 mark.

Mr. Jones is one of the largest land owners in Fayette county, and the sheep have been fattened upon his estate east of this city and also near Bloomingburg. He still has some 300 head left.

The 5,000 head were fat wethers, averaging 127 pounds to the head, and brought about 5 1/2 cts per pound, or an approximate total of $34,925, which, together with some $17,000 worth of cattle disposed of within the past few days, brings the total amount received for live stock to about $51,925.

Harry Geager of Springfield purchased the immense drove of sheep, and has been shipping them to Chicago and Pittsburg.

Will Rebuild More Highway

Bids for the rebuilding of the highway from the bridge over Palm creek immediately west of Bloomingburg, to the point where the new road was built last year, will be received at the State Highway Commissioner's office until two o'clock p. m. May 15.

The improvement will be of the same character as that made on the road last year, and the part to be improved consists of 1.93 miles, the estimated cost of which is $5,914.40, and is to be completed by August 1, 1913.

The improvement on the road, which was to have been completed by Shumway & Hudson, of Portsmouth, last fall, will be completed this spring, and when the entire improvement is completed, the Devalon road will be the best road in the county, extending from the intersection with the Lewis pike to the bridge at Bloomingburg.

Strong Probability for Great Good

Among other communications which have appeared in the columns of The Herald, from citizens of Washington, which are deserving special consideration of the public are those communications relating to our local band and the giving of band concerts.

The people of this city have more than the nucleus of a good band right here now. Fortunately for them it would not be necessary to start at rock bottom and work clear up to a capable band and then on through the successive stages to a band of such recognized ability as to take rank with the best.

Washington has long been noted for the number of capable musicians numbered in its population, and these musicians, especially those of the band, have refused to be discouraged by a lack of cordial appreciation in the way of real support and have kept determinedly at the work of maintaining an efficient band here, from sheer love of music.

Popular concerts here during the summer months would attract crowds of visitors from a wide section of country and would do as much to put our city in the lime-light of public attention and keep it there as any one thing that could be done.

Really, if our people would only realize the possibilities, direct and indirect, which the "letters to the people" have opened up in suggesting popular and sacred band concerts they could not certainly remain inactive.

Not only would the concerts attract the best people here from a distant on nights when the concerts were to be given, but the pleasant anticipation of future concerts and the recollections of high class entertainments of the past would keep the city and its business constantly in the mind of the public outside.

When men set to work with a determination to boost their home town, they too frequently waste valuable time and energy searching for some big undertaking and overlook the small things of more real benefit which are theirs for the taking.

The people of Washington should look at these local band and concert suggestions from a selfish standpoint, figure up the matter from the standpoint of dollars and cents in profits direct and remote.

A movement which brought about the consummation of the plan suggested would not be the dispensation of charity to the band members. Neither would it be the expenditure of money wholly for pleasure. It would be a delightfully pleasant and immensely profitable means of "boosting the town".

Poetry For Today

LET NOT LOVE GO.

Now the purple night is past,
Now the moon more faintly glows,
Dawn has through thy casement cast
Roses on thy breast a rose;
Now the kisses are all done,
Now the world awakes anew,
Now the charmed hour is gone,
Let not love go, too.

When old Winter, creeping nigh,
Sprinkles raven hair with white,
Dims the brightly glancing eye,
Laughs away the dancing light,
Roses may forget their sun,
Lilies may forget their dew,
Beauties perish, one by one,
Let not love go, too.

Palaces and towers of pride
Crumble year by year away;
Creeds like robes are laid aside,
Even on very tombs decay!
When the all-conquering moth and rust
Gnaw the goodly garment through,
When the dust returns to dust,
Let not love go, too.

Kingdoms may melt away like snow,
Gods are spent like wasting flames,
Hardly the new peoples know
Their divine, thrice worshiped names!
At the last great hour of all,
When Thou makest all things new,
Father, hear Thy children call,
Let not love go, too.

—Alfred Noyes.

OLD AT 40.

Some Younger at 65 Than Others Are at 40 Years.

So many people whom you meet about the time they reach 40 begin by saying "I can't do this, and I can't do that, because I'm getting old now," they begin to act old, feel old and they are older in appearance than many who are much more advanced in years.

When you begin to feel old, when your energy begins to fail build yourself up with our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It is a wonderful blood-maker and strengthener.

Mr. J. N. Kelley, aged 75 who lives at Lake Charles, La., says: "I took Vinol for a run-down condition. It not only built up my strength, but I feel fifteen years younger than I did before taking it."

Thousands of old people have found in Vinol just the medicine they need to build up the feeble, weakened system and create strength. If it fails, we return your money. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

ASTOR ESTATE IS OVER $87,000,000

Value Much Greater Than Was First Estimated.

FINAL APPRAISAL IS MADE.

Hero of Titanic Disaster Left $10,000,000 More Than Estate Was Thought to Be Worth—Vincent Astor Receives $65,603,547—Few Worthless Securities Found by Appraisers.

New York.—Final appraisal of the estate of John Jacob Astor, who went to his death on the Titanic, fixes the value at $87,210,691. This is approximately $10,000,000 more than the tentative appraisals and the assessed valuation indicated the estate to be worth.

The share of the estate which passes into the hands of William Vincent Astor, the first American member of the family to hold his legacy absolutely and without the intervention of trusts, amounts to $65,603,547.

The property set aside for Colonel Astor's first wife, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, was appraised at $787,397. The property placed in trust for Colonel Astor's second wife, who was Madeleine Force, was appraised at $1,695,792.

Unusual methods were adopted in the appraisal of the Astor estate. In stead of the estate retaining its own appraisers and the state comptroller

by Mapesau

retaining another set of appraisers, there was appointed a board of appraisers agreed upon by both sides. It was understood that the report of this board of experts should be accepted as final.

In the appraisal of property which had been left in trust for both the first and second wives of Colonel Astor the appraisals were made without knowledge on the part of the appraisers as to what purpose the property was to be devoted.

The value of the real estate, as determined by the appraisers, is approximately $64,000,000, while the securities he owned had a face value of $20,000,000. It is said that the worthless securities held by Colonel Astor were few.

Most of these were investments into which Colonel Astor had been led by his love for scientific experimentation, he evidently having been willing to invest money in ventures for the promotion of scientific theories in which, it is said, he had little hope of financial profit. By friends he had been induced to invest comparatively small sums in mining ventures.

The following are the principal items of realty, with the appraised valuations: Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, including one-half of Astor court, $10,400,000; Hotel Knickerbocker, $4,875,000; Hotel St. Regis and three parcels adjoining, $3,975,000; Putnam building, $2,525,000; south one-half of the Astor House, $2,400,000; the Astor residence at 840 and 842 Fifth avenue, $2,475,000; the ground at the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-second street, $2,125,000; Cambridge hotel at 320-334 Fifth avenue, $1,475,000; Schermerhorn building, $1,800,000; 295-303 Sixth avenue with the adjoining five parcels in West Nineteenth street, $1,183,500.

The largest single stock holding was in the New York Central, of which securities Colonel Astor held 40,000 shares, valued at $4,150,000.

When Colonel Astor's body was found there was $3,817 in his pockets. The appraisal of the Astor jewelry is $161,920. The two principal items are a diamond sunburst valued at $78,000 and a diamond necklace valued at $80,000.

Charles W. Morse owed the Astor estate $110,030, which the executors say they have been unable to collect since the claim arose in 1909. The total deductions claimed by executors, including debts, administrative expenses, executors' commissions and attorneys' fees amount to $1,875,771.

The estate paid a preliminary tax of $3,150,000 last October. Owing to the increase in value upon final appraisal the estate will be required to pay thousands of dollars in additional tax.

Libraries Weak In the Work of the Present

By TALCOTT WILLIAMS,
Columbia University Professor

LIBRARIES ARE STRONG IN THE PAST, BUT WEAK IN THE NOW.

The library can tell you about emigration from Cain's flight to "the land of Nod on the east of Eden," but can it give Taft's message vetoing the immigration bill because of the literacy clause? A library can give you all about some things, but can it give you all about everything up to TODAY? Until it does this it cannot affect the publicity movement or serve ammunition to the firing line.

I notice a decidedly "literary" tendency among librarians, and a very natural tendency it is. When reference is made in conversation or in public meetings to the business side of life and the library's relation to it some eager friend of culture usually goes through the appropriate incantations, CALLS UP THE GHOST OF THE CLASSICS and in their name exhorts his fellows not to forget that, after all, the world is MADE GOOD BY DOING GOOD and that the soul is more than bread and butter and that "the light that never was on sea or land" is more important than a good supply at a fair price of electric current.

I have no particular objections to this method of justifying one's conservatism, of making still more comfortable one's comfortable adjustment to things as they are.

I WILL SAY, HOWEVER, THAT I SHOULD NOT BE VERY SORRY IF I MISSED, IN A DISCUSSION OF A PRESENTATION OF THE UTILITARIAN WORK WHICH AWAITS ALL LIBRARIES, ALLUSIONS TO SPIRITUALITY, VITALITY, CULTURE, BREADTH, LITERATURE OF POWER AND OTHER THINGS FAMILIAR TO THOSE WHO DEAL IN FLAPDOODLE.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

The cannery schooner, Sadie F. Callor, lost at sea 18 years ago somewhere in the Pacific ocean, has been called back from the port of missing ships. Walter McCary, of Tacoma, Washington, a submarine diver, found the vessel in 60 feet of water near Chignik, Alaska, recently and is now preparing to take out of the wreck nearly $50,000 in tin bullion with which she was laden.

On and after May 5 next, the London Times will be sold for a price equal to 4 cents American. In 1796 its price was 9 cents; it gradually advanced until it reached 14 cents in 1815. In 1836 the price fell to 10 cents and in 1861 to 6 cents where it has remained to the present time. The Napoleonic wars and the newspaper tax had a great deal to do with the fluctuations in the price of the Times. There are reasons to believe that its price will eventually be reduced to 1 penny, 2 cents which is coming to be the standard price of newspapers both in the United Kingdom and the United States.

The Athens county game warden who caught a starving young fox that had been deserted by its mother for the purpose of feeding and caring for the animal and who was arrested for the alleged crime had his trial yesterday when he was found guilty and fined $25 and costs for violating section 1416 of the game laws. The law reads, "No person shall catch, kill or injure any fox from the 1st of December to the 1st of September or both inclusive. The state conducted the defence. The case was interesting and is unique in the history of the state and will be carried through the courts.

The Jewish Feast of the Passover began Monday evening and lasts one week. It commemorates the deliverance of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage as described in the book of Exodus. Observant Jews abstain during Passover week from the use of ordinary bread and all leavened substances, substituting therefore a cracker called "matsoth" the traditional unleavened bread. Strictly orthodox Jews will not even use the ordinary dishes they have in use during the year. Public worship takes place only at the beginning and at the end of the week.

Col. J. H. Patterson, of Dayton, is now having erected at his own expense a camp for the homeless of his city, which in point of comfort and modern convenience may make some of the homeless glad they are homeless. It is located near the Cash Register works. Row after row of round Khaki tents are located on either side of board walks, lighted by incandescent lamps which make the camp a miniature homelike city instead of a camp for the homeless. Each tent has a board floor. The drainage has been planned so that a great deal of rainfall will not cause discomfort. Particular attention has been given to a central tent where the homeless will eat their meals. The sanitary equipment of the camp is probably its most wonderful feature.

Mr. Patterson has moved his "magic wand" for the welfare of the masses in Dayton and a completed camp is the result.

THE LOVE OF ONE WOMAN

Lucy was anxiously waiting the coming of Gerald Nutting. For two weeks she had not seen him, and she had been both hurt and displeased at his silence, for she could only guess why he had not come. But to-day she had received a note from him telling her that he would call this evening. Immediately she had forgotten her misgivings, and in honor of his coming she had donned the dress he liked the best and arranged her hair in the way that he had said pleased him most.

Time dragged along until it was 8 o'clock, and then the landlady came and told her that Mr. Nutting was waiting to see her. Lucy descended to the parlor with a happy smile on her lips. As she entered the room a young man rose and came forward.

"I can stop only a few minutes, Lucy," he said, after the first greeting, which was not very cordial on his part.

"I'm going away this evening," he explained, "and you don't want to feel disappointed. I'm going to be one of a theatre party, and."

"I suppose Beatrice Varney makes another one of the party," broke in Lucy, trying to keep her voice calm. "Well, I might as well be honest with you, Lucy. She does. But it's not the same here in the city as it is in the country. Just because a fellow is engaged to one girl is no reason why he shouldn't notice another."

Pride held Lucy silent. He should not see her much he was hurting her. A few moments later when he took his leave she bade him good-by in a collected manner, but after she had gone to her own room she gave free vent to her feelings, and sobbed out all her grief and sorrow.

"I wish I had never come to the city to work," she went on. "It was all so different in the country. Gerald used to love me then but now he seems to care only for Beatrice Varney. I can't help loving him no matter what he does. I shall always love him. Some day he will love me again. I know he will."

The girl dried her tears and tried to comfort herself with this crumb of hope. The days that followed were freighted with sorrow for Lucy, for after one or two evenings when he spent a few minutes with her his calls ceased altogether.

Time went by until two years had elapsed and then one day Lucy heard that Gerald Nutting had been very ill, and that though he had recovered, he was in danger of losing his sight. The girl did not hesitate in deciding that she would go to see him at once. To be sure she had no claim on him now, but she was an old friend, and he needed every bit of sympathy he could get at this trying time. In making her plans she did not think of Beatrice Varney, and she did not enter her mind until she reached his lodgings that afternoon and was ascending the stairs to his sitting room. When she remembered, fear clutched at her heart for the first time. Suppose she should find Beatrice there. What if he had married her, although she had never heard of it? Even if she were not there, suppose Gerald did not want her sympathy. Many thoughts like this tortured her, ere she dared to knock at the door.

When she did so, his voice bade her enter. He was sitting before the open fire, his head bowed in his hands. His attitude brought the tears to her eyes. She crossed the room swiftly, speaking his name in tender accents. He rose to his feet and groped his way toward her. "Lucy!" he cried, gladly, reaching out his hand to greet hers.

"I came as soon as—I heard," she said, gently.

"Dear, noble girl," he murmured, "I might have known you would come—it's so like you. You don't know how I have longed to see you, to ask your forgiveness."

"I forgive you long ago, Gerald," she interposed. "And you're not to think of it again. But you have friends there's Beatrice to comfort you."

"Beatrice," he repeated somewhat bitterly. "I haven't seen her since I was taken sick."

"You don't mean that she hasn't been to see you," cried Lucy. "I can't understand such a thing."

"But it's true, Lucy. She only cared for me as long as I could take her to places and make things pleasant for her. The moment I needed a real friend she deserted me. But I do not regret it. I never really cared for her. I've only loved one girl, and I don't need to say who it is. But it's too late now. You don't care."

Lucy's eyes were shining with happiness. "It's not too late," she broke in. "I have never changed, Gerald."

"You mean that you love me still," he said almost breathlessly. "Do you love could you marry a man who was blind?"

"Yes, I do. I could," she answered. "Heaven bless you, dear," he murmured. "I knew you would say that—I knew if you loved me that the other would make no difference, but I was afraid you had left off caring. But it won't be as bad as you heard, Lucy. I saw a specialist yesterday. It's a question of a delicate operation, but there's no doubt but that it will be successful," he said. "But best of everything is the thought that you would love me anyway."

He put his arms around her and drew her to him, kissing her almost passionately. FRISCELLA CAMPBELL.

A Natural Assumption.

He was a drummer of the more flashy type and had just finished telling a startling story to his newly made acquaintance in the parlor car.

"That reminds me of one of Munchausen's yarns," remarked the victim, for want of something better to say.

"Munchausen? Who is he?" "Why, don't you know him? He is the most colossal example of mendacity that civilization has produced."

A brief, painful silence ensued, which was broken by the traveler in a tone that was almost timid.

"Excuse me, my friend," he said. "If I seem inquisitive, but would you mind telling me what house he travels for?"

The Song from the Crag.

I stood upon the shoulder of the crag Where the wind was fresh and free, I heard the wavelike murmur of the pines

That sounded dreamily; The pines that some day should be naked masts Were singing of the sea.

I lay upon the rough breast of the crag And warm it was to me. I thought it whispered to me all its hope

In a mood of solemn glee: The rock was talking of the temple wall Of which it was to be.

And there upon the houseless, warm cheeked crag My own heart spoke to me. My soul was singing of its havens far And its immortal sea;

My life communed of God's great temple wall Of which it is to be.

—William Byron Forbush.

CALLS WASHINGTON THE LEXINGTON OF THE BUCKEYE STATE

Hon. George M. Rommell Praises Fayette County for Many Fine Horses, and Says Exhibit Here Was Surprise--Other Well-known Horsemen Are Greatly Pleased With Recent Show.

"Washington C. H., is to Ohio what Lexington is to Kentucky when it comes to being a center for good horses," said Hon. George M. Rommell, Chief of the Department of Animal Husbandry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., who was one of the judges at the horse show.

Continuing on the subject, Mr. Rommell further said: "I have known that Washington C. H. was a noted horse raising center, but I was most agreeably surprised and pleased with the class exhibited in the show here, and have never before seen such a handsome aggregation as some of the classes shown. Fayette county is far ahead of what it had previously been thought, and I hope that I will again have the pleasure of being with you. The crowd in attendance at the various performances has been a representative one, and was made up of a very intelligent class of people."

Other horsemen who had never before visited this city were greatly pleased with what they beheld, and are anxious that another show be held this fall.

In giving to Washington the title of "The Lexington of Ohio", Mr. Rommell paid the city and county a high tribute, and incidentally used the term which Lima, O., has long claimed, but which now rightly belongs to Washington.

That Fayette county will become a center of the cavalry and artillery horse breeding, is predicted as a result of the recent show, as the horsemen are now fully acquainted with the best type of animals desired, and the price paid for army remounts is attractive and an inducement to increase the raising of more animals for the government service.

Mr. Rommell's statement that if a war were to break out enough desirable horses could not be found to mount the cavalry indicates that for a great many years to come the price of remounts will be good, and an inducement for the breeding of the remount classes.

James M. Wallace, director of the Wallace Orchestra, paid a high compliment to the community by saying the class of people who attended the show was exceptionally fine, with none of the rowdism which is so often found in like events elsewhere.

Only Juice Of Grape Unfermented

Washington, April 23.—Diplomatic circles were in animated discussion yesterday over Secretary Bryan's dinner party the other night to some 40 distinguished members of the diplomatic corps, at which unfermented grape juice was served in place of the variety of wines which customarily have a place. Officialdom talked so much about the innovation that the story leaked out.

May 11 Fixed As Mother's Day

Columbus, Ohio, April 23.—Cox has fixed May 11 as "Mother's Day," which is to be observed by the wearing of a white carnation. He issued the following proclamation:

"In response to a sentiment as general as human existence itself, it seems desirable that one day in the year be set aside and consecrated to the blessed memory of motherhood.

"It is therefore urged that the people of the state of Ohio observe Sunday, May 11, 1913, as Mother's Day. That they each and all wear a carnation of pure white upon that day; and they gather at their places of worship and in their homes, or wherever they happen to be, and, with appropriate ceremonies, give heed unto the majesty of the occasion."

Miraculous Escape

Mrs. Marie Thomas returned home Tuesday evening after a visit of a few days with her sister, Mrs. Pearl Harmon in Dayton. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon were in the flooded district having 18 inches of water in their rooms on the second floor. The water on Wayne avenue being 18 1/2 feet deep.

They were marooned with 21 others, including 3 little children, on the house roof from noon Tuesday until 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. And were rescued Thursday morning by being lowered into boats with ropes. With the exception of colds, which were contracted through exposure, they consider they had a miraculous escape.

8,000 KILLED.

Special to Herald.

Cetingo, April 23.—The Montenegrin troops today entered Scutaria after two days of fierce fighting.

Three thousand Montenegrins fell and five thousand Turks were killed during the two days' engagement.

Kentucky Beauties

Three exceptionally handsome horses, owned by Mr. Clarence C. Harris, who was one of the judges at the horse show Tuesday, arrived from Lexington, Ky., at noon Wednesday, to be consigned to the sales now in progress at the pavilion.

This is only one of a number of choice lots which have arrived for the sale within the past few days.

Secretary of State

Who Will Be Sent to California By President.

Bryan to Go To California

Special to Herald.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—President Wilson today wired Governor Johnson, of California asking whether enactment of anti-Japanese legislation could not be held over until Secretary of State Bryan could come to California and there explain to the legislature the position of the Federal government in regard to threatened enactment.

There is no longer any doubt apparently but that the Federal government regards the situation as extremely grave. Sending the Secretary of State across the continent to explain in person, is taken as a sign of the gravity of the situation as viewed by the President.

Condition Of Ohio Wheat Good

Columbus, April 23.—The Ohio crop report for April 1 shows that the condition of the growing wheat crop was on that date 93 per cent of a full average. The damage by the storm of the last week of March does not seem to have been serious.

It is more than offset by the additional area sown for the crop of 1913 and the unusually good condition of the growing plants. Thirteen per cent of the crop of 1912 is still in hands of the farmers.

Rye condition is put at 94 per cent by the report. The condition of corn in the crib is rated at 87 per cent and but seven per cent of the corn of last year's crop remained out unhusked all winter.

The state board of agriculture estimates the loss by floods to Ohio farmers and winds at $16,000,000. The figures were based on reports from 1630 farmers in 1000 townships.

Deep Interest Taken In Lecture

The audience which viewed the illustrations on the screen at the Y. M. C. A. and heard Dr. W. E. Ireland's lecture on Tuberculosis Tuesday night, was greatly impressed with what they saw and heard, and never before was the subject of tuberculosis so forcibly brought home to them as by the illustrated lecture. In his lecture Dr. Ireland stated that there are two great sources of contagion connected with the disease the first is from expectorations of persons having the disease, and from milk of tuberculous cows, adding that the dust is a great carrier of the disease.

He also stated that tubercle bacilli retain their virulence for months and even years under favorable conditions; one consumptive expectorates several billion germs each day; the disease is preventable and curable. Pure air, good food, plenty of rest and cleanliness are the essentials mentioned to cure the disease.

Another lecture will be given tonight, and it will be profusely illustrated. The exhibit is drawing hundreds of people to the building.

GOODE MADE GOOD

Substitute Knocks Out Triple That Helps Defeat Luckless Reds.

Cincinnati, O., April 23.—Goode, batting for Humphries in the eighth, tripled, scoring Sater, who had scored two runs before him on his triple, giving the Cubs victory in a grand-up-hill fight over the Reds in the third game of the series. The final score was 8 to 5, the visitors getting two runs in the final session. Up to the time Goode hit safely the Cubs were tied with their opponents. Score:

Temperature Below Normal Condition Is Yet Serious

POPE PIUS NOT YET CONVALESCENT

Has Another Fainting Fit Due to His Weakness.

Rome, April 23.—The pope had another fainting fit, due to his weakness. Dr. Amici was present and had no trouble in reviving him. The pontiff's temperature is below the normal and was 97 when Professor Marchisava visited him.

The physicians had a long conference with Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, and warned him that all precautions should be observed. While the pope was in no danger, they said, he was not yet convalescent. His prolonged weakness was a bad sign and a repetition of the fainting fit was possible.

Ten cardinals went to the vatican and asked to be allowed to see the pope. Cardinal Merry Del Val refused to grant the request on the ground that it was against the directions of the physicians.

view by the majority leaders in the senate, who met with him and agreed upon the form of the telegraphic reply to President Wilson's message.

Opposition to the administration program will come from the Democrats, aided by a few Republicans who are opposed to anti-alien legislation of any kind. The Democrats will seek to strike out the words "ineligible to citizenship" in any bill considered, and on this point the real fight on the measure will be waged.

Telegrams Exchanged.

President Wilson in his message said: "I appeal with the utmost confidence to the people, the government and the legislature of California to act in the matter now under consideration in a manner that can not from any point of view be fairly challenged or called in question. If they deem it necessary to exclude all aliens who have not declared their intentions to become citizens, from the privileges of land ownership, they can do so along lines already followed in the laws of many of the other states and of many foreign countries, including Japan herself. Invidious discrimination will inevitably draw in question the treaty obligations of the government of the United States."

Governor Johnson replied: "I think I may assure you that it is the desire of the majority of members of the legislature to do nothing in the matter of the alien land bills that will be embarrassing to our own government or offensive to anyone. It is the desire of the legislators specifically to provide in any act that nothing therein shall be construed as affecting or impairing any rights covered by treaty, although from the legal standpoint this is deemed unnecessary. If any act be passed it will be general in character, relating to those who are ineligible to citizenship, and the language employed will be that which precedent sanctions in statutes which now exist on the subject."

MAY INITIATE ACT

People of California Insisting Upon Passage of Alien Bill.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—President Wilson has been repeatedly informed by the California representatives in congress, whom he called into conference at the White House, that the people of the state were insistent upon the passage of the legislation which had aroused the protest of the Japanese government. He learned that public sentiment in favor of the legislation was so strong that if the legislature failed to pass a satisfactory law the people themselves, through the initiative which they have adopted, might originate and pass a law which would prove much more embarrassing from an international standpoint than any of the bills now pending.

HEED THE COUGH

THAT HANGS ON.

The seeds of consumption may be in lurk, and a cough that hangs on weakens your system, and lowers your vital resistance to disease. Take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It stops the cough, heals the inflamed membranes, and strengthens the lungs. E. D. Rountree, Stillmore, Ga., says: "La Grippe left me with a deep seated hacking and painful cough from which I could get no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It completely cured me." # BRAND TOO LATE.

No Foreign Post For Whitlock. Washington, April 23.—Senator Pomerene saw Secretary of State Bryan and asked that Brand Whitlock, Toledo mayor, be made minister to Switzerland or Belgium. He learned that both places have virtually been tendered to other aspiring Democrats. The real trouble lies in the belated announcement of Whitlock's aspirations.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Pottery Girls Get Raise. East Liverpool, O., April 23.—Striking pottery girls, at work pending a settlement of their demands, have been granted an increase in wages and better working conditions by a board of arbitration, especially selected for considering the difficulty. The girls, 1,000 in number, led by Mrs. J. H. Bixby, asked for a raise from $1.05 and $1.15 a day to $1.50. They have been granted a scale ranging from $1.25 to $1.35, according to the class of work.

Cameron and Huling in Court.

Columbus, O., April 23.—I. B. Cameron, former state treasurer, and Cyrus Huling, former president of the Columbus Savings and Trust company, pleaded not guilty to the charge of having illegally converted and loaned $250,000 of state funds. Both Mr. Cameron and Mr. Huling waived the reading of the joint indictments and assured Judge Kline that they would be on hand when their cases are called for trial, May 12 and 19.

Says Woman Met Unnatural Death.

Springfield, O., April 23.—Dr. J. L. Coons, pathologist of Columbus, who made a post-mortem examination of the internal organs of Mrs. Florence Caville Smith, for whose death her husband, Dr. Arthur B. Smith, is being tried for murder, testified that the woman, in his belief, had met an unnatural death. He said he found no traces of potassium cyanide or other poison, as is charged in the indictment against Dr. Smith.

Boom Butler For Place.

Columbus, O., April 23.—J. G. Butler, Jr., of Youngstown, will be recommended to President Wilson for appointment as special commissioner of this country to England in the summer of 1914 for the dedication of Sulgrave Manor, home of George Washington's ancestors, near Northampton, England, by the Ohio Society of Sons of the American Revolution, which held its annual convention here.

Two Sleepers Turn Over.

Ravenna, O., April 23.—Two Pullman sleeper cars attached to a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train, westbound from New York to Chicago, overturned near here. Four persons were injured, Charles Stewart, a San Francisco attorney, and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Poppleton of Cleveland. Stewart's shoulder was broken. The others were badly bruised.

Charged With Bootlegging.

Bellefontaine, O., April 23.—Clinton States, state patrolman at the Lewis town reservoir, was arrested by Sheriff Cook on a charge of bootlegging. States gave bond in probate court for his appearance May 1.

RID YOUR FEET OF SORE CORNS.

Quite easy now to extract any kind of a corn—just apply Putnam's Corn Extractor—it works wonders, stops the pain quickly, the thick tissue is softened, and healing goes right to the heart of the corn. In a few ours the hard core is loosened and separated from the toe. Out comes the corn. Toe is left smooth—not a mark left. Use only Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, recommended by druggists and sold in 25c bottles by Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.

Refuse To Be Quiet After Verdict Fight to Be Carried On

CHILDREN FORCE PROBE OF CHARGES

Committee Appointed to Sift Heeter Case to the Bottom.

Pittsburg, April 23.—The strike of school children against S. L. Heeter as superintendent of the city's school system spread rapidly. Thousands of children remained away from school as a protest against Heeter, who was acquitted by a jury of two serious charges preferred by a domestic employed at his home. In all parts of the city school children paraded the streets, tying up traffic at a number of busy points and necessitating the calling out of police reserves to maintain order. One little girl was killed by an automobile and there were several arrests of men.

When the demonstration of the children had ceased, the Pittsburg board of education held a meeting, at which a committee of seven prominent men was asked to investigate the various alleged charges of immorality against Superintendent Heeter.

BOY LIBERATES MICE IN CROWDED SUBWAY CAR.

New York, April 23.—An office boy got seats for himself and friends in a Broadway subway express by freeing a score of mice from a cardboard box and taking advantage of the stampede that followed. The car in which he and friends hung from straps in a corner was filled with homegoing working girls, and when the boy uncovered the box to let loose its squeaking freight there was a screaming rush. A spectator said that some girls who clung to straps saved themselves by clinging as in a gymnasium. Most of the passengers and the guards didn't know whether it was a fire or a fight until the car was cleared. Then the mice were found.

NOTHING DOING YET

GREETED WITH CRIES OF "NEVER"

Lord Cecil Makes Appeal In Commons For Equal Suffrage.

London, April 23.—Lord Robert Cecil, in presenting a petition in the house of commons in favor of the enfranchisement of women, was very careful to explain that militant suffragists, or the members of the Women's Social and Political union, had not signed it. It was presented on behalf of 27 societies of women who were opposed to the methods of the militants. The latter have no use for petitions. Lord Robert's appeal was greeted with cries of "Never." Sir Courtenay Herbert, the clerk of the house of commons, afterwards read the petition.

A CARD.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar Compound fails to cure your cough or cold. John Bernet, Tell, Wis., states: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as a family medicine for five years and it has always given the best of satisfaction and produced good results. It will always cure a cough or cold. For children it is indispensable on account of its pleasant taste and its freedom from opiates." Refuse substitutes. Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.

RELIEF CORPS MEETING.

The last April meeting of W. R. C. will be held Thursday, April 24, at 2 p. m. By order of EMMA CRAIG, Pres. EMILY BALDWIN, Secy.

Jolted

Commission Plan Rejected. Marietta, O., April 23.—With less than 20 per cent of the vote polled, Marietta by a vote of 408 to 218 rejected a proposal to adopt a commission form of government. Conditions since the recent flood prevented any interest being taken in the election.

Remarkable Discipline and Control Wins It

is said the government decided to accept the compromise on the advice of the king.

The leaders of the Socialist trades unions and their followers gained their chief point, which was to make the government take up for consideration a change of the Belgian parliamentary franchise with its hated system of plural votes for the wealthier and more educated classes. At the last returns 99,070 men possessed one vote, 395,800 two votes and 308,683 three votes, so that the government's vote was overwhelming.

RECOMMENDED FOR A GOOD REASON.

Because they cured him of kidney and bladder trouble, C. H. Grant, 230 Waverly St., Peoria, Ill., tells the result of his taking Foley Kidney Pills. "Backache and congested kidneys made me suffer intense pains. Was always tired and floating specks bothered me. Took Foley Kidney Pills and saw big improvement after third day. I kept on until entirely freed of all trouble and suffering. That's why I recommend Foley Kidney Pills. They cured me." They are tonic in action, quick in results. Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.
